

SEEK AN ART DEPARTMENT AWARD

The FSU Art Department will offer 33 awards this spring, ranging from $250 to $1000

SELECTION PROCESS

The Department of Art gives a number of awards to Studio Art students whose work demonstrates exceptional achievement. For information on how to apply, go to <https://art.fsu.edu/opportunities/departments-of-art-student-awards/>

DUE DATES

The submission deadline is Friday, January 27 at 11:59pm

HOW TO APPLY

Make it great! Here's how:

- Develop a concise yet compelling artist's statement 150 to 300 words in length. NOTE: If you are applying for an Ann Kirn Scholarship (a $1000 award), you must include a thoughtful description of the role that design plays in your studio practice.
- Select the five to eight images that best represent your studio practice. Be sure that your images are photographed well and cropped as needed. File sizes should be between 1 and 2MB. Uploaded to Vimeo or YouTube, each video submitted is considered as a single image. Test your links: the jury must be able to access your work.
- Write a brief description of each image and provide the title, size and medium.
- NOTE: The application as a whole may evolve over several days and is likely to take 6 to 12 hours to complete. Putting the necessary time and thought into it will greatly improve your chances of success. And, once you have laid the groundwork with this application, you will be better prepared for future applications for awards on or off campus.
