

FSU Meteorology Seminar Series, Fall 2020

Dr. Ryan Truchelut
WeatherTiger

From the "Weather Guy" to WeatherTiger: Explorations in Scientific Entrepreneurship

Abstract

Career decisions in meteorology often are perceived along lines of binary choice. Academia or forecasting? Research or teaching? Public or private sector? And yet, more options than these exist for those who take a "Choose Your Own Adventure" approach to the weather profession. FSU meteorology alumni Dr. Ryan Truchelut (PhD '15) will discuss the path in scientific entrepreneurship that he has followed in co-founding WeatherTiger, a weather and climate consulting company, in a talk that like the start-up life itself, is a mix of research, operations, finance, cat herding, memoirs, and attempted dad humor.

Zoom Link

<https://fsu.zoom.us/j/95792371181?pwd=QzFLQWZjOXozSXFtZlNnQThmbkNVQT09>

Time:	Thursday, Dec. 3, 2020 @ 3:30 PM
Host:	Dr. Allison Wing
Note:	Meeting the speaker at 3:00 PM. A post-seminar student-speaker session will start immediately after the seminar.