

HABITATS*:
A Summer Ecology Experience
for Middle- and High-School Teachers

Explore our local Apalachee Bay watershed as a basis for engaging students in ecology and/or environmental science lessons

**HABITATS: A Healthy Apalachee Bay through Involving Teachers and Their Students Summer Institute Sponsored by:*

FSU Office of STEM Teaching Activities and the FSU Marine Laboratory

- ❖ Open to science teachers of grades 6-12
- ❖ Earn a $750 stipend
- ❖ Learn more about our local watershed and its environmental opportunities & challenges at the FSU Marine Lab (daily transportation provided if Covid-19 cases remain low)
- ❖ Practice research-based teaching methodologies aligned with Florida standards using innovative instructional materials for teaching biology (ecology) and/or environmental science
- ❖ Potential to receive follow up support in the classroom to implement innovative learning experiences with your students (and earn additional stipend)

When: June 6-10, 2022
8:30 – 5:00

Apply NOW—Only 10 spaces available:
Online Application Only
http://bio.fsu.edu/osta/workshop\_form.php

For more information contact:
Dr. Ellen Granger or
Zaneta Igbino
Office of STEM Teaching Activities
Florida State University
(850) 644-6747

granger@bio.fsu.edu or zherron@fsu.edu

ONLINE APPLICATION OPENS AT 12:00 NOON March 25, 2022