CALL FOR ARTICLES

The Marine Resources Committee is looking for potential authors to contribute articles for SEER's website. Articles are meant to be snapshots of a legal issue relevant to marine resources. This includes summaries of new cases or proposed or final legislation/regulation.

As an experienced practitioner, you can share your knowledge of an issue you may already be tracking. As a law student or new practitioner, an article gives you a chance to explore a new area of interest within a manageable scope.

Multiple topic ideas have already been suggested on the spreadsheet thanks to our MRC Vice Chairs. If you are interested in being a mentor or author, or if you would like to contribute topic ideas, please see this link:

After you have signed up to write an article, you will work with an overseeing committee member and mentor (if applicable) to arrange a due date and start drafting. Note that articles mentors are intended for law students or new practitioners who want to engage with attorneys already working (and writing!) in this area of law to sharpen their writing and critical thinking skills as well as network.

This is a great opportunity to practice your writing skills and explore a new area of natural resources law!

If you have any questions, please reach out to our Articles Vice Chairs, Brooklyn Hildebrandt and Katherine Hupp, at bhildebrandt@sidley.com and klh19h@my.fsu.edu
